Maths Challenge

This week, we'd love it if you could start spotting what time it is. Do you know what 'o'clock' looks like? How about 'half past'? Try asking the adults around you what time it is when you're eating your breakfast, your lunch and your evening meal. You could go one step further and ask them to show you this time on an analogue or digital clock. In Key Stage 2, you could try telling the time yourself or even working out problems relating to time. Remember to tell your teacher about anything that you do related to our maths challenge to earn yourself dojos or YBS tickets.

Problem of the Week

Mo and his four friends eat a meal.

They each pay for part of the meal.

Mo pays £5.20

Each of his friends pay £3.80

How much did the meal cost in total?

For a chance to win a fabulous maths puzzle, post the completed problem in the box in the foyer
